Context and decision record

Lumen Initiative 001 develops Lumen Document Discovery 001 for research teams at Cedar Pilot Organization 001. The workflow helps users find approved source passages. This document covers the user research brief and gives the team a stable reference for decisions about document discovery. The current review priority is quality; that priority is a stated preference, not a numeric performance claim.

The research session focuses on a complete task rather than opinions about interface appearance. Participants receive the same starting information and describe where they hesitate, what they expect, and what evidence they need before acting. Observers distinguish a participant statement from their own interpretation.

The findings are limited to this synthetic pilot group. They should guide a follow-up experiment rather than be generalized to every customer. Each design proposal must identify the observed difficulty it addresses, a measurable outcome, and a way to reverse the change if it adds confusion.

For this project, the team will inspect Lumen 001 Audit Store and retain the source records behind each material finding. This record must be read using its recorded publication time. Follow-up decisions should identify their assumptions, the person responsible, and the observable condition that would change the recommendation. The document is intentionally part of a fictional evaluation corpus and contains no private customer data.
